

Purchasing Power versus Product Knowledge in Commercial Building Material Sales?

How are you solving the conundrum of the purchasing power of decision makers versus those with the most knowledge?
Are your communications aimed at the right audience with a message that meets their primary motivation?

